138 Fort Gibson Court

Waleska, GA 30183

My name is Liz Pastore, and I have spent the last 30 years working in the construction field. Over the course of my career, I have managed projects for corporations and owned and operated a Minority Women-Owned (MWBE) construction firm. My husband, Ken, and I recently relocated from Upstate New York to Georgia. Our oldest son has lived in Georgia for six years and owns a plumbing business in Kennesaw, and our younger son is in his first year of college in Marietta to be an electrician.

What matters most to me is building trust and communicating clearly. My approach centers on listening and making thoughtful, practical decisions. Throughout my career, I have taken pride in strengthening processes, creating structure where needed, and fostering collaboration among individuals with diverse perspectives but shared goals.

I am committed to responsible planning, fairness, and open dialogue. I believe in showing up, doing the work, and ensuring decisions account for both immediate needs and long-term impacts. I would be honored to bring my experience, problem-solving approach, and dedication to this community as we work together to support its future.
